Target:

Actual values can be extracted directly from current systems, collected directly in the Scorecard or imported from a spreadsheet, database or online form.

Actual results may be compared to an alarm and target, taken from a benchmark, prior period result or other related comparative value.

Scorecards are provided at every organization level and for every strategic objective. Abrige technology encourages performance improvement and collaboration.

Information, events, initiatives and other communications can be broadcast throughout the organization from upper levels.

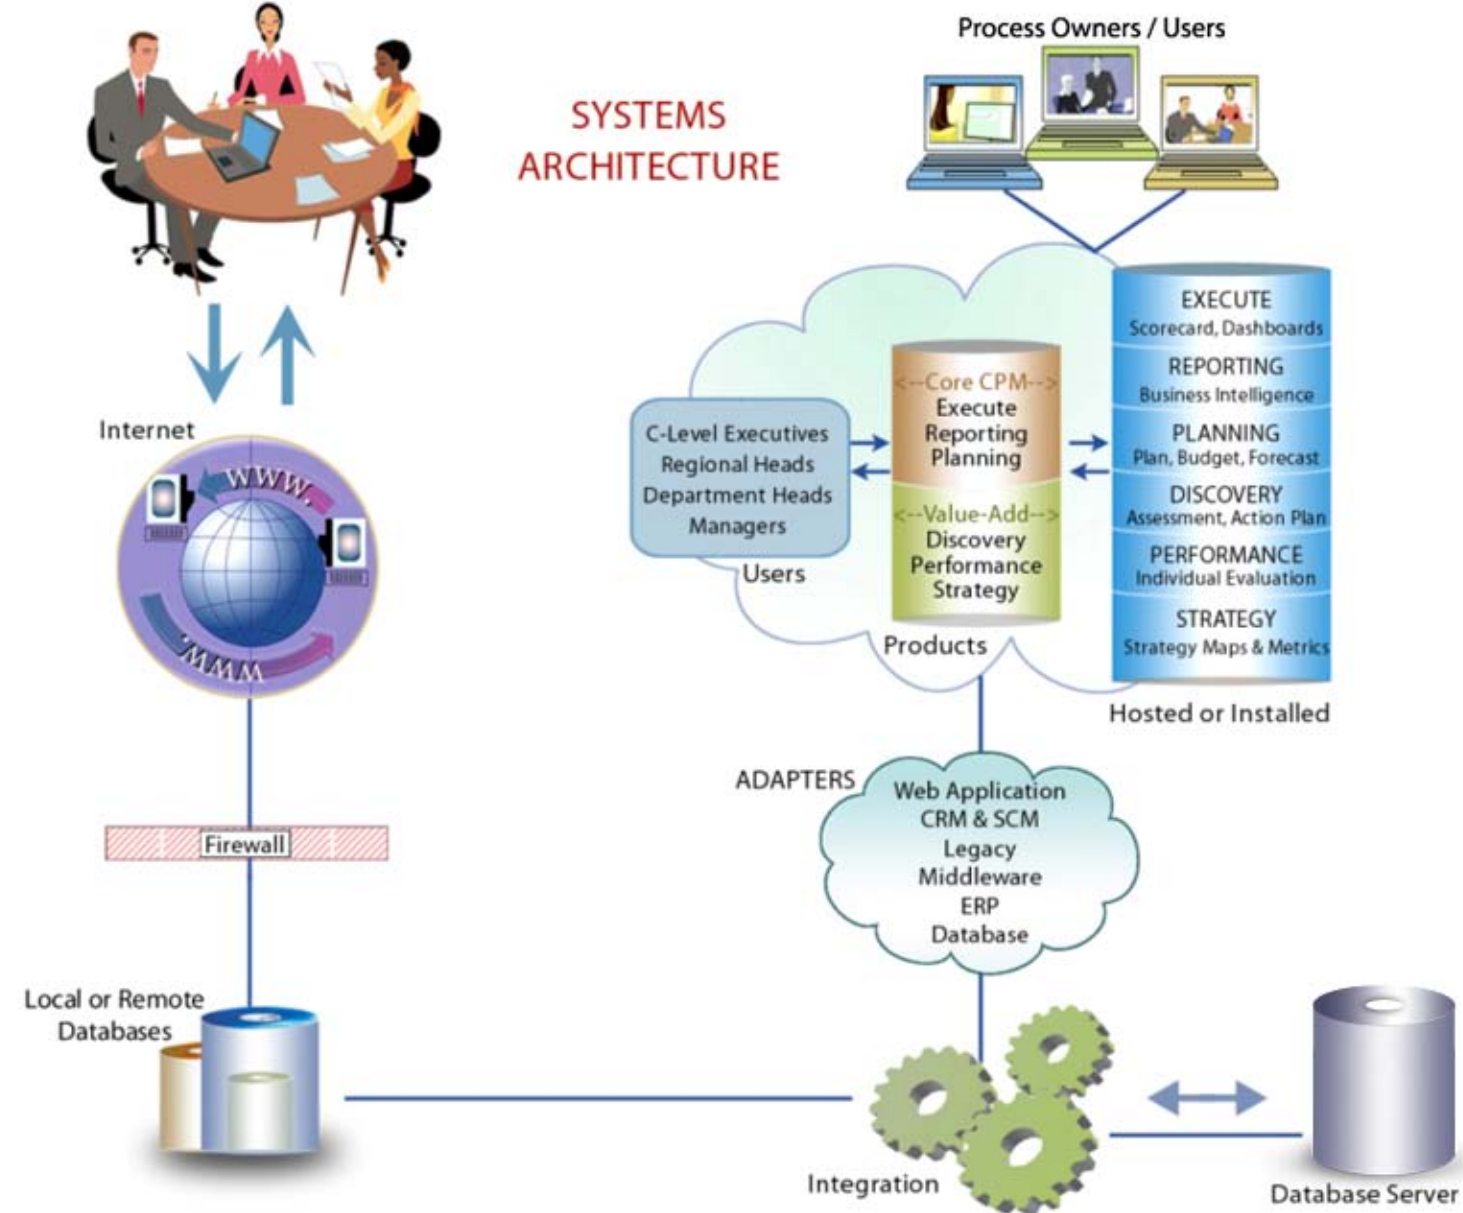

Comments about results can be made instantly for viewing by upper levels.
